

CAMP PERRY TO BE MARKSMEN'S MECCA

Large Attendance of Distinguished Visitors Promised At Big Rifle Shoot.

CADET CORPS ENTER MATCHES

For First Time Regimental and Company Tournaments Thrown Open to Youngsters Next Month.

(Special Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., July 18.—Those who propose to attend the rifle matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, this year, will be interested in knowing that a larger attendance of visitors is promised than at any preceding match. Secretary of War Dickinson himself a good shot with both the military rifle and the shotgun, will be at Camp Perry for several days. Chairman John A. T. Hull, of the house committee on military affairs, will probably spend two or three days on the range while the entire membership of the senate committee on military affairs is expected to attend the range for one day. The committee will be making a tour of inspection of army posts at that time and the itinerary will be arranged so as to bring them to Camp Perry for one day if possible. Gen. William Crozier, chief of ordnance, Rep. I. R. Sherwood, Senator Dick, of Ohio, Rep. Edwin Denby, of Michigan, Captain Leonard, of the general staff and Captain Kerth, assistant chief of the militia division, will be among the distinguished visitors. It is a matter of regret that President Taft will be unable to arrange his western trip to take in Camp Perry. He is a life member of the National Rifle association whose matches will follow the national matches, and as secretary of war was greatly interested in the work of the N. R. A. and the national board for promotion of rifle marksmanship. Assistant Secretary Robert Shaw Oliver is president. President Taft will write the winner of the individual military championship of the United States a personal letter of congratulation. The title goes to the marksman who makes the highest record in the national individual rifle match and the president's match combined.

CADET CORPS TO SHOOT.

For the first time the regimental and company matches of the National Rifle association will be shot at Camp Perry, O., August 1st, and will be thrown open to cadet corps. The progress made during the preceding year with shooting in the educational institution has been such that belief that it will be only a few years until they will be well represented at the national matches. Culver military institute, of Indiana, has been the champion of the national rifle match at Camp Perry last year for observation and practice and this year will have a team on the ground ready to meet all comers. Cadets who belong to rifle clubs affiliated with the N. R. A. will be admitted to all individual matches and the teams will shoot in the Inter-Club match. Teams from Princeton, Harvard and similar institutions, not having cadet corps, will not, of course, be eligible to belong to the regimental and company matches, but individuals from such clubs can shoot in a large number of individual matches. The success of the young marksmen in late years gives the impression that it seems from educational institutions take to attending the matches they will make the older marksmen look out for their laurels.

FORTY-FIVE TEAMS.

It is probable that not more than forty-five teams representing the states, territories and the regular service, will be able to bring to Camp Perry this year. This will be a decrease of five from the number last year. A number of states which do not have ranges of their own, which need improvement, have reached the conclusion that for the current year they can do more with their money by improving their ranges than by sending a team to Camp Perry. In many instances they are hard at work preparing for next year's contest. Of the $2,000,000 appropriated by Congress for the National Guard, $500,000 is set aside for rifle practice. This sum is apportioned among the states and can be utilized for the purchase and equipment of ranges. In a few years it is hoped that each state will have at least one first class range.

STIFF RIFLE RANGE.

A difference of opinion exists as to the probable purchase by the United States government of the Ohio rifle range at Camp Perry. Its purchase is advocated because of its central location and because it is well equipped with a north light and requires no artificial backstops. On the other hand, there is a well known expression of opinion that a national range should be established near Washington. The United States marine corps has recently secured 1,000 acres of land at Indian Head, about 30 miles down the Potomac from Washington, which will be utilized by that branch of the service. A number of sites have been within easy reach of Washington have been inspected by army boards with a view of acquiring sufficient land for maneuvering and artillery fire as well as rifle practice. In addition to a fixed rifle range the army is desirous of obtaining sufficient land to permit of rifle practice under service conditions. Eventually a tract of some 12,000 to 15,000 acres may be purchased. In this

Mohr's
156 Main St.

Millinery
Reduction Sale
See Our Bargain Tables
$1.95 $3.45
$5.00 $7.50
Reduced from many times the actual value

Ever Ready Safety Razor $1.00

(Including 12 Blades)

You will find it especially convenient on your canyon trip—in fact, it is a time and money-saver all the time.

The Pure Drug Dispensary
112-114 South Main Street.

COURT NEWS

MYRTLE SEATON DESERTED.

Mrs. Myrtle Seaton filed an action for divorce against David Seaton yesterday in the Third district court. She declares that her husband deserted her more than a year ago and since that time she has been compelled to support herself. They were married at Pueblo, Colo., on March 14, 1908. She asks that her maiden name, Myrtle Winsel, be restored to her.

ASKS TO BE ADMINISTRATOR.

G. H. Backman filed a petition yesterday in the Third district court asking that he be appointed administrator in the estates of Joseph Evans and Ruth Evans. Mrs. Ruth Evans died in Salt Lake on Jan. 1, 1901. Her husband, Joseph Evans, died on July 9, 1900. Mrs. Evans left some real estate and Mr. Evans owned some mining stock in the Big Cottonwood district.

DISCHARGED IN BANKRUPTCY.

The following persons have been discharged as bankrupts by Judge John A. Marshall in the United States district court: Nephil L. Griffiths, J. F. Nielson, Eureka, George G. Hardy, Horace E. Zerbe, T. J. Sakurai, W. E. Kelson, Orlan O. Cart, J. B. McCarty, Stanley L. Mayer, Amos Mosher, Joseph D. Kay, LeRoy Lindsay, Salt Lake; William Isherwood, Hiram J. W. Rees, Wales, and J. G. Higginson, Silver City; William J. Crowther was adjudicated bankrupt.

WULF TAKES TIME.

A. J. Wulf, until a few days ago an employee of the Rose Kraft Fruit company, took until tomorrow morning to plead whether he had or had not betrayed the confidence of his employers as charged. It is alleged that Wulf collected $77.08 which properly belonged to the company, but which he appropriated for his own use. He was unable to furnish $500 bonds and was given to the keeping of Sheriff Sharp.

MCVEY WITHDRAWS PLEA.

J. A. McVey today withdrew his plea of not guilty to obscene conduct, after he had called for a jury trial, and was willing to pay a $10 fine and the costs of the case. The explanation of the case was given to the court in whispers by Asst. City Atty. Rogers, and the fine of $10 and costs levied.

STORY OF EXECUTION.

W. H. Gerke's earnings capacity is not sufficient to enable him to pay the $35 fine imposed against him for leaving the state of Utah in front of the Kanyon hotel, and Judge Bowman extended the stay of execution until August 15. When the case was called from the docket this morning, today being the limit of time under the former stay of execution, Judge Bowman stated from the bench that the young man would be placed under harsh bail at this time if required to pay the fine, and the time extended until the middle of next month.

SUE FOR PERSONAL INJURIES.

Two suits seeking damages for personal injuries were filed in the Third district court this afternoon. Both are against mining companies. Dan McDonald's suit against the Zenopi Silver & Copper Mining company, seeking $10,000 general and $2,000 special damages for injuries alleged to have been sustained by him June 19, 1907, while in the employ of the company and engaged in unloading a wagon load of hay at the Kanyon hotel, and Judge Bowman extended the stay of execution until August 15. When the case was called from the docket this morning, today being the limit of time under the former stay of execution, Judge Bowman stated from the bench that the young man would be placed under harsh bail at this time if required to pay the fine, and the time extended until the middle of next month.

DISTRICT COURT NOTES.

The James & O'Bray Plumbing company filed suit yesterday in the Third district court against J. H. Horner and J. J. Dwyer, proprietors of the Sky-scraper cafe. The plumbing company seeks to recover $15 for plumbing work and costs of the suit.

Charles Wathan & Co. brought an action yesterday in the Third district court to recover $447.50 from the Carter jewelry company. This amount is due on goods purchased from the company.

The Bingham Coal & Lumber company obtained judgment against L. O. Larson yesterday in the Third district court for $243.12. The judgment constitutes a lien on Larson's property in Bingham canyon.

The Bingham State bank filed an attachment suit for $500 against W. F. Allen because he is about to leave the state. The money is due on a note.

The Sandy Milling company filed suit this morning in the Third district court against W. H. Allen to recover $1,700. This amount is due on goods delivered to the defendant.

NEW INCORPORATIONS.

The Western Insurance company of Pittsburg filed a copy of its articles of incorporation this morning in the office of the secretary of state. The capital stock amounts to $200,000. D. P. Black is president and D. Dallas Hare, secretary. Harry B. Windsor is named as resident agent, who will write insurance for the company in the State of Utah.

LONG AUTO RIDE BY WOMEN MOTORISTS

Mrs. J. R. Ramsey and Three Companions Reach Salt Lake in Maxwell Touring Car.

For the first time in the history of automobilism four women, crossing continents in an automobile, making a journey from New York to San Francisco, not for the purpose of breaking any records, but to demonstrate that women are independent of mere men and that they can and dare brave the wilds of various parts of the country, overcame many difficulties and take care of themselves.

Last evening Mrs. John R. Ramsey, a prominent woman of New York, drove her Maxwell touring car to Salt Lake from Ogden. She was accompanied by Mrs. M. Atwood, Mrs. N. R. Powell and Miss H. Jahns. The party was welcomed from Ogden here by the Thompson-Botterill party and upon their arrival registered at the Knott hotel. This morning the women rested and this afternoon and evening are enjoying the beauties of the city and the great lake.

Tomorrow morning Mrs. Ramsey will turn on the juice and start for Ogden and will then turn the nose of the car in the direction of Reno. The car is being overhauled today at the Shurman garage but there is really nothing much to do with it. The engine is a bit dirty but otherwise it appears to be in second condition. It is equipped with ropes, boxes, tools, tires and extra parts of the road just 27 days and the speedometer registers 1,190 miles, but J. B. Murphy, a representative of the Maxwell factory, who travels ahead, and often behind the tourists, says that 1,200 miles should be deducted from this as that distance was covered in touring New Jersey.

The tourists are not making the trip on a wager of $100,000 dollars, but just for the fun of the thing. They have encountered floods, bad roads, gas, beautiful scenery and smooth going. They have shot at and missed game of various kinds and have come so far without mishap.

LATE LOCALS.

Actuaries' Report Filed.—Insurance Commissioner George B. Squires has received 250 printed copies of the report of the Commercial Life Insurance company, made by Paul L. Woolston of Denver. The report which covers 28 printed pages will be distributed among the State of Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Utah, the states joining in the examination. Copies will also be sent to the company and the insurance journals of the country.

One Physician After Job.—At the civil service examinations which were held in this city today for the position of messenger boy in the weather bureau at the Federal building in Chicago, six boys entered for the former and one physician for the latter position. Orville Williams, secretary of the local board, was in charge of the examination.

Fourth Ward.—There will be a welcome home extended to all returned missionaries living in the Fourth ward in the chapel at Seventh and Main, West Temple street tomorrow evening. A program has been prepared, to be followed with light refreshments and dancing.

The Pullman company will send a special train for the purpose of taking this city to help the Salt Lake office during the great push of encampment week.

TWO SIDES TO THE STORY.

Eardley Says Newman Was the One At Fault Sunday.

In suit added to attempted injury is what A. H. Eardley thinks is clear. The charge made against him of disturbing the peace, to which he pleaded not guilty this morning. The complaining witnesses are S. Newman and Newman's wife. The story of the incident was told in court July 23. On the side, however, Eardley says that Newman, himself, was the one at fault. He says that Newman, according to the defendant's story, the occurrence took place in the rear of 725 South West Temple street last Sunday, in the morning. Eardley says Newman had stopped him in front of the residence and had called him names. Trouble was avoided when Newman, who was in the car, drove away. Eardley says that Newman, when he returned, threatened "to kick him black out" and that Eardley, Mrs. Newman also took part in the loud and hardly permissible Sunday language.

FOUR VAGABONDS VAMOOSE.

The penitential bench of the police courtroom looked bare this morning with its four occupants, and it took but a couple of minutes to clear it entirely. The four "vagrants" chose the long-term trail in preference to a bed and three meals a day as a compensation for building highways. L. K. Ueber, William Harper, Richard Swinder and Salaba Monaba, who sounds like a salub, but looks like a Jap, formed the prisoners' list, and under the admonishing and suggestive eye of the arresting officer, promptly admitted, when questioned, that they were vagrants. For minute or two Salaba developed symptoms of aphasia, until he caught the look of the officer and then he "sailed." They have until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to leave Salt Lake in the distance.

PERSONALS.

J. F. Tolton and wife of Beaver are in the city. Mr. Tolton says Beaver county is in a better shape than ever before, in mining, livestock and agriculture.

Mrs. V. H. Pease of Roseburg, Ore., formerly a resident of the city, is in town to remain until after the G. A. R. encampment.

Supt. D. H. Christensen has gone to Provo canyon for a week's vacation.

Milton J. Rutbard leaves this afternoon for Grand Junction, where he will work on the railway business.

State Chemist Harms is off on a few days' breathing spell.

Rev. L. S. Bowerman of the Baptist church will be back from the coast Saturday next, so as to occupy his pulpit again Sunday.

Fish and Game Commissioner Chambers leaves for the county today on business, to be absent four or five days.

THE STARTUP BOYS

Shipped the first UTAH CANDY to Denver, St. Louis, Chicago, and the coast country eight years ago. Quality alone has made it possible for the Startup Candy Co. to market their products in all the centers of commerce of America and Mexico.

STARTUP CANDY CO.

Provo "The Candy City."

BUSINESS AND REALTY

Today's local bank clearings amounted to $1,205,330.35 as compared with $684,841 for the corresponding day of last year. The very marked increase of the present clearings is attracting attention, but the manager of the clearing house says it is a regular increase of trade, a general development of commercial life and business with the banks.

Architect J. Parkinson of Los Angeles and Salt Lake has bought 165x288 feet on the east side of Main street, between Fifth and Sixth South streets, for $41,400, as an investment.

B. F. Redman has decided to erect a 190x125 foot brick and stone warehouse, on the site of the old Westminster Presbyterian church on Fourth West street, to cost $55,000. It will be five stories high, with 300 separate fire proof apartments, and as plans are ready, construction will begin in two weeks. The entire structure will be reinforced concrete, and absolutely fire proof.

Construction of the Fisher building on West Temple street, has been delayed by unfavorable of structural steel. Work of rebuilding the Utah Light & Railway alley to the south has begun. This was destroyed by cavens of earth in the Fisher building excavation.

The Standard Furniture company is getting out plans for the erection of a warehouse at Third West and Seventh South streets, on ground which has been secured on a long lease. The building will be one story and will cost about $25,000. The dimensions will be 50x100, and it will have truckage from Third West.

The Hubbard Investment company reports the sale recently of four building lots in Nye's addition, near Tenth South and State street, four lots in Fairmount Springs addition and six building lots in Oakley Park addition.

R. W. Madsen, who has returned from a buying trip to the east, reports all the furniture factories running to their full capacity. He reports heavy purchases of furniture all over the United States, excepting San Francisco. Fumed oak and mahogany will be as popular as ever during the next six months and the styles will be largely colonial.

John Dorlus was granted a permit yesterday afternoon to build a $40,000 apartment house of 54 rooms at 553-557 First avenue.

Work on the excavation in the rear of the Union block on Main street for the new structure there of the Salt Lake Hardware company has been resumed. There was a delay owing to the scarcity of laborers and teams.

Three building permits were issued this morning by Eugene H. Buehler, fifth. They call for the expenditure of $8,000.

POLICEMAN WINS ALLEY RACE.

McCormick Outrins Diminutive Hop Fleud and Leads Him to Bastille.

Robert O'Neil, a diminutive inhabitant of the underworld, known to the police as a hop fleud and vagrant, gave Patrolman McCormick, on the scales for 245 pounds and requiring two yards and more of tape line to reach from his scalp to his generous forehead, the run of his life this afternoon. Robert, spotted by McCormick on Commercial street, was placed under arrest and was being escorted to the station to be charged with vagrancy. When the big one and the little one were in the middle of the street, Orpheum Place and Commercial street, the little one tore himself from the grasp of the policeman and sprinted down the alley. McCormick, who was in the row of Chinese mansions, the almost evaded denizens came forth from their fan and other pastimes to watch the arrested and the policeman who grew sprinted as the big one gained on the little one with a great clatter of sole leather in the paved thoroughfare. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual. This pastime of the policeman and the hop fleud, course, we saw nothing of her during the three days of fighting. Often one of the boys saw her, but she was never seen of the old cow? The general opinion was that we had seen the last of her. On the morning of the fourth day, father, my brother, and I took a walk over the field to see if we could find any trace of her. We saw her, but she was not the same. Dead soldiers were lying around thick and horses and many cows came to the conclusion that our cow had been killed by a man. She was not the same. As we were eating supper one evening a week or more after the first day of the fight, we were sitting at the table and rushed out. There stood our old cow, looking as happy as it is possible for a cow to look at being home again. We petted and hugged her in our pleasure at finding her alive, and soon had her in the stable in her own familiar stall. She discovered that she had a bullet hole in her neck and she was not the same. We found out later that all the cows in the particular field had been killed by the same man. The light and had wandered off about 10 miles from town, beyond the firing line. McCormick, who was led to the police station and accommodated with a cool room in the main corridor where he will revolve many thoughts of the first day of his life, but he made out in his pastures as usual.